DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-28 have been examined.

Priority

2. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for domestic priority under 35 USC § 119 (e).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mikkonen (USPN 6822971) in view of Answell (USPN 6367019).

As per claims 2-17 and 19-28, Mikkonen (USPN 6822971) discloses a method for establishing secure access (a tunnel col. 8 lines 1-12) to a media peripheral (PCMCIA card, e.g. object 62 (with a storage element 56)) via a node (e.g. agent 34 or 130) in a communication network (e.g. a network including a correspondent node/entity 22 Fig. 1, 154 Fig. 3, 154 Fig. 4 etc.), the method comprising: detecting when the media peripheral is communicatively coupled to the node (col. 7 lines 40-44); acquiring data associated with the media peripheral, registering media peripheral (for subsequent operation) and utilizing the acquired data to facilitate secure communication between the media peripheral and the communication network (col. 7 line 44- col. 8 line 12). Mikonnen discloses reading the data from the media peripheral (col. 6 lines 28-43 col. 7 lines 1-17 and col. 7). The examiner considers the node to be a media exchange server and points to Fig. 2 that discloses the data comprising at least one user identifier.

4. Mikonnen is silent regarding the data (e.g. data distributed to the media exchange server, as discussed above) to be security data (such as a digital certificate) and does not disclose authentication the security data.

Ansell discloses a media peripheral providing security data (such as digital certificate) that is authenticated (Ansell, col. 9 line 58- col. 10 line 55).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to include the security data (such as digital certificate) that could be authenticated as disclosed by Ansell. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to perform such a modification in order to provide secure communication with an authenticated party (Ansell, col. 2 lines 46-67).

5. As per claims 1 and 18, Mikonnen clearly discloses that the data stored in the media peripheral reads on (at least subset of) information associated with a home (the identifier that includes an address is associated with the home network, col. 7 lines 33-39) and an ordinary artisan would readily recognize that each time that the discussed above media peripheral was implemented in the home environment (home network) the media peripheral would communicate with the network (including communicating with the correspondent node/entity) via a home node (e.g. Home Agent 128, Fig. 3). Also, since the information (data) associated with the home disclosed by Mikkonen in view of Ansell are stored within the media peripheral, the node attempting to identify previously acquired security data would not find the security data. Thus, whenever the media peripheral is attached to the network environment the process of acquiring security data/information associated with the home would be repeated in order to facilitate the media peripheral communication with the network.
